Rangkaian Kegiatan Program Java in Paris di Le BHV Marais, Paris

Ratusan jenis produk UMKM lokal dalam platform Shopee terpilih kurasi BHV Marais termasuk produk fesyen dan aksesoris buatan pengrajin lokal dari Janedan, Shiroshima, Danar Hadi, dan Ansoe.

Bagi pendiri Shiroshima, Dian Nutri Justisia Shirokadt, semua bermula saat dirinya memutuskan pulang ke tanah air setelah bekerja di Singapura selama 8 tahun. Dian kembali ke kota kelahirannya di Yogyakarta dan tertarik untuk mempelajari batik dari kedua orang tuanya yang merupakan pengrajin batik. "Saya ingin membawa nuansa baru dengan motif yang lebih minimalis dan model yang lebih segar. Lalu saya belajar selama dua tahun dengan ibu saya." Dian lalu memulai brand Shiroshima pada Agustus 2019 dengan konsep baju batik daily wear, yang dapat dipakai oleh siapa saja tanpa memandang usia.

Ini merupakan sebuah kebanggaan bagi saya. Sebelumnya saya belum merasa percaya diri untuk memperluas ke Eropa karena takut produk saya tidak cocok. Tapi dengan masuknya ke Paris, membuka mata saya jika produk UMKM Indonesia juga memiliki potensi di sini. Saya tentunya bisa makin memberdayakan pembatik dan mendukung perekonomian lokal," jelasnya.

Paris, June 9, 2022 - Shopee in collaboration with the Surakarta City Government, Indonesian Embassy in Paris, and Le BHV Marais Paris presents “Java in Paris”, a program that bring hundreds of Indonesia MSME products to Le BHV Marais, one of the biggest department store in France under the Galeries Lafayette network. After going through a curation process in Paris, selected products will be displayed and sold at Le BHV Marais starting from June 8 June to July 17 2022. This program represents the commitment of the Surakarta City Government in fully supporting Solo MSMEs to advance and reach the global market through promotions at the world’s fashion capital, Paris. In addition, this program is also a continuation of the successful “Shopee MSME Export Solo Campus”, which has succeeded in supporting 10,000 MSMEs exporting from Solo to the global market within a year.

According to the Ambassador of the Republic of Indonesia to France, Andorra, Monaco, and UNESCO, Mohamad Oemar, the Java in Paris program is a result of tremendous partnership between the central and regional government, as well as the private sector. Furthermore, the products offered have met the criteria for Paris Market due to direct curation conducted by the Le BHV Marais's team. "Collaboration with renowned shops, restaurants, or fashion designers in France is the Indonesian Embassy's strategy in bringing Indonesian creative economy products to France. As the curation is carried out directly by the shop, restaurant, and fashion designers, it is well suited with the French market's preference and EU standard."

The Mayor of Surakarta, Gibran Rakabuming in his speech stated, the event is a good opportunity for MSMEs to accomplish more and tap into the global market. "Java in Paris becomes the new achievement for Indonesian MSMEs to be known and acquired in the European market. Through these MSME products, we can also introduce stories and cultural values even though this is just a glimpse of the grand Indonesian culture. We thank the Indonesian Embassy in Paris, BHV Marais, and Shopee Indonesia for the incredible synergy and support that now we are able to witness Buah Karya Anak Bangsa on the world stage," explained Gibran.

Director of BHV MARAIS Home & Eataly Paris Marais Purchasing, Amandine de Souza during the press conference further elaborates, "Indonesia is rich in culture, but unfortunately, only a few European audiences are aware of this. Therefore, we collaborate with Shopee to curate the best brands and products from Indonesia for customers in Paris to discover. We hope that more people are aware of Indonesian products, such as Solo batik, through the collaboration with the Surakarta City Government. BHV Marais visitors will also be able to immerse themselves in Indonesian culture through various workshops, music performances, and UNESCO photograph exhibitions. We would like to thank Shopee, Surakarta City Government, and the Indonesian Embassy in Paris for giving our customers the opportunity to learn more about Indonesian culture."

"Java in Paris" is a joint effort to enable Indonesian MSMEs to tap into the global market. Shopee Indonesia has committed to this spirit through programs such as Shopee MSME Campus and Shopee MSME Export Campus - which has opened in 9 cities and successfully trained tens of thousands of local MSMEs and supported over 180,000 local MSMEs in reaching new markets such as Vietnam, Malaysia, Thailand, Brazil, and Mexico.

Director & Country Head of Sea Indonesia, Kiky Hapshary explains, "Java in Paris" initiative aims to empower local MSMEs, "Java in Paris is the result of strategic synergy and collaboration between the government and private companies in providing wider market access for MSMEs. With the support of Shopee's digital business ecosystem in accelerating the development of MSMEs, Java in Paris is hoped to be a chance for Indonesian MSMEs to accelerate and seize bigger opportunities. We also hope this program can inspire more local MSMEs to grow and reach the global market."

Executive Director of Shopee Indonesia, Handhika Jahja emphasizes #ShopeeAdaUntukUMKM commitment through “Java in Paris” program. “Shopee wants to accompany Indonesian MSMEs in every step of their journey. The “Java in Paris” campaign is the continuation of our commitment to MSMEs, in which we synergize with the Surakarta City Government, this also marks the first year of Shopee MSME Export Solo Campus. We hope that our support through this program can positively impact Indonesian MSME development, and open wider access for MSMEs to be recognized in the global market. This is the time for MSMEs to not only thrive in Indonesia, but also in the global arena.”

Series of “Java in Paris” Activities at Le BHV Marais, Paris

Hundreds of curated Indonesian MSME products were curated by BHV Marais, including fashion items by local designers such as Janedan, Shiroshima, Batik Keris, and Ansoe.

Founder of Shiroshima, Dian Nutri Justisia Shirokadt, explained her decision to return to her hometown Yogyakarta after working in Singapore for 8 years led her to learn batik-making from her parents who are batik artisans. “After I learned to make batik from my mother for two years, I wanted to bring a new nuance by coming up with minimalistic and fresh new motives”. Following up to this, Dian started the Shiroshima brand in August 2019, designing a batik dailywear line which can be worn by anyone regardless of their age.

Dian expressed her excitement knowing that her products are able to enter the global market with Shopee. “We are humbled to learn that Shiroshima passed the curation, this is an absolute honor for me. Previously, I did not have the confidence to bring my products to the European market, worried that my designs would not suit their customers. But now that we have entered Paris, I am now confident that Indonesian MSMEs also have the potential to thrive here. I hope this opportunity can empower batik craftsmen and support the Indonesian economy,” Dian concluded.

In addition to promoting Indonesian MSME products, Surakarta City Government will also introduce Indonesian arts and culture through cultural events which will be held in the heart of Paris, that includes:

- Opening Ceremony of “Java in Paris”: The event will feature various Indonesian art and cultural performances, and to be held along the Rue de Rivoli in front of Le BHV Marais, Paris, on 8 June:
 - Gamelan, wayang, and traditional dance performances brought by cultural artists from Solo, directed by choreographer Eko Supriyanto.
 - Final performance by Anggun C. Sasmi, international singer from Indonesia.
- Various workshops highlighting Indonesian culture in Paris:
 - Aside from promoting Indonesian MSME products in Paris, several cultural activities are also scheduled for a month during “Java in Paris” at BHV Marais. Customers and visitors can participate in batik, Balinese dance, pencak silat martial arts workshops, as well as Indonesian tea and coffee tasting events and Indonesian music performances.
 - These events are set to be held every Saturday from 11 June to 2 July at Le BHV Marais.
